FOR CONGRESS.

The Weather.

For Kentucky—Fair and cooler
Saturday.

Paducah has adopted a "move on" ordinance in order to relieve the congestion on crowded streets.

Sam'l K. Veach will be the new Grand Master of the Masonic Grand Lodge.

Gov. Beckham will return to Western Kentucky next week, speaking at Murray Monday.

The funeral services of Mrs. Jeff Davis were held at Richmond, Va., yesterday with a great concourse in attendance. Many old Confederate Veterans took part in the impressive ceremonies.

The eastern coast of Florida is in the grasp of another storm that is doing much damage to coast towns, and vessels at sea are in great danger. Jacksonville and St. Augustine are in the storm's path.

Hopkins county is one of the battle grounds between Beckham and McCreary. The Hustler is leading the McCreary forces and the Graphic and Journal are supporting Beckham. The result in that faction-torn county will be awaited with interest.

The Masonic Grand Lodge adopted the following resolutions: Resolved, That it shall be unlawful for a Kentucky lodge to receive or accept into its membership, any person engaged in the manufacture or sale of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, except where such manufacture or sale is for medical purposes. Any and all lodges violating this edict shall forfeit their charters.

The sensational letter alleged by Noel Gaines, editor of the Crusader, to have been written by Percy Haly, to John M. Lassing last March has been pronounced a forgery by the Lassing also states that the letter occupies several columns in the papers this week. While it is not stated as a fact, the inference is that the signature to the letter was attached with a rubber stamp used in official business by Adjutant General Haly. And thus has been exploded the "Bomb Shell" story.

In the four contests for State offices, where there are real races, the KENTUCKIAN is supporting the following candidates: For governor, S. W. Hager; for attorney-general, John K. Hendrick; for superintendent of public instruction, E. A. Gullion; for commissioner of agriculture, R. C. Crenshaw. Mr. Crenshaw is our own county man and deserves the support of every Democrat in the county and so far as we know he will lose scarcely a vote. Col. Hendrick is the candidate of Western Kentucky and a lawyer whose ability is universally recognized. We support the four candidates named because we believe they are the best men offering for the places they seek. Vote for them, Democrats, and you will make no mistake.

As the time draws nearer and nearer, it becomes more evident every day that the superb organization of the administration Democracy, which has made itself a terror to the Republicans, will easily protect itself from assaults within the party and that both Auditor Hager and Governor Beckham, representing the administration, will win with many thousands of votes to spare. The opposition here is not formidable enough to bring out the vote of the administration forces. The real danger is in over-confidence. All hands concede this county to both Hager and Beckham.

The Democratic nominees, so far as initials are concerned, seem to run in pairs. There are two each of the following letters: H. J. K. R. and S. They are Hopkins and Helm, James and Johnson, Kimball and Kehoe, Richardson and Rhinock, Stanley and Sherley. Dr. Gatliff in the 11th has no partner, but the Doctor's election is not conceded. The others are all winners.

May Doctors Advertise

The Wisconsin Board of Medical Examiners are confronted with the question, shall doctors advertise? An applicant to practice as a physician announces that if granted a license he will advertise. It is intimated that the license will be refused by the medical Board, in which case the matter will be taken into the courts for adjudication. A judicial deliverance on this point will be interesting and important. The question involved is purely one of so-called "medical ethics." That is to say, the larger proportion of physicians hold that it is not "ethical" to advertise. There is no law against physicians advertising and, of course, there never can be such a law, but it appears that the Wisconsin board of medical examiners is a law unto itself and assumes the right to prevent an advertising physician from practicing medicine in the state of Wisconsin. The right of the examiners to exercise any such authority will be tested if the case under consideration is taken to the court. It ought to be tested. Doctors should have the same liberty that other people have in the premises. At any rate we have observed that the more "ethical" of the profession try to get all the free advertising they can, while deploring the idea of putting up good money for it.—State Journal.

TENNESSEE BAPTISTS.

There are two hundred and fifty delegates in attendance.

DR. HALE'S OPTIMISM

The point of vantage afforded by more than sixty years of adult life should fit almost any man for the position of critic, especially when the subject is closely connected with human emotion and life. Dr. Edward Everett Hale, who despite his great age, has again taken up literary work, this time as one of the editors of the WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION, gives some friendly and clear-sighted advice in the November number of the publication on the need of optimism in our present disturbed national condition.

The Candidate's Daughter.

Her father was a candidate,
His daughter was my love;
Her face was morning light to me,
Her eyes the stars above—
Her father was a candidate;
This much is worth note—
She came to me, all smiles to state:
"Pa needs the floating vote!"
"My dear," I said, "you cannot get
This floating voter's vote
Without you give him something first
To make this voter float.
Something to lift him up from earth
And spread his joyous wing
In a flight of sunny ecstasy
Where larks and linnets sing!"
The rogue political, she saw
Clean through my anecdote,
And blushed a bit, and archly sighed
"So you would sell your vote!"
Her father was a candidate;
He needed floaters bad—
The sweetest lips I ever—Hush!
I voted for her dad!
—Aloysius Coll.

POSED IN NUDE.

Photograph of C. B. Shaw to Be Exhibited.

London, Oct. 19.—The Daily mail announces the forthcoming exhibition in London of the international society of impressionist photographers called the Linked Ring.

It will contain a remarkable photograph of G. B. Shaw, the author and dramatist, posing as Rodin's masterpiece, "Le Penseur," in "the altogether." The picture, which was made by a well known American member of the Linked Ring, Alvin Langdon Coburn, will be the first public presentation of a living celebrity naked, and it will doubtless draw crowds to the exhibition.

It is suggested that the figure of Mr. Shaw, which, it is said, gives the impression of "Le Penseur" rather than of "The Superman," will be a valuable encomium on the advantages of a vegetable diet.

City Directory.

The soliciting of advertising for the city directory will not be begun for some time, but those who want to get in on the ground floor and get choice positions can make application at the office at any time.

The work of compiling the directory, by a canvass of the city, is progressing nicely. The Seventh ward has been completed.

MILKMEN'S WHISKERS.

California Veterinarians Find
New Spreader of Disease.

Los Angeles, Oct. 19.—The Southern California Veterinary Association has declared war on bewiskered dairymen. If it has its way, caretakers, milkers and milk deliverers in this county will have to go clean shaven. In a paper which was read before the association by L. W. Young, city veterinarian, whiskers were denounced as the favorite rendezvous and abiding place of germs.

Legislation was demanded to force those who handle food to dispense with "microbe harboring parks" on the chins. Long experience in making the rounds of the dairies has taught Dr. Young, he declared, that germs thrive on farms where milkers wear whiskers.

WARREN COUNTIAN

Adjudged Insane and Brought to Asylum Here.

Bowling Green, Ky., Oct. 18—George A. Hill, who three months ago was adjudged of unsound mind, was arrested in this city to-day and taken to Hopkinsville to night and placed in the asylum. When Mr. Hill was examined for his sanity, a brother, living in Nashville, Tenn., received permission from the authorities to take him home, thus preventing his admission to the asylum. This was done, but Hill escaped from custody yesterday and came at once to this city.

Dr. Snyder's Church.

Rev. J. S. Snyder, Chester, S. C., who was here last summer, writes to the Baptist Argus of a recent meeting:

"I have just closed a meeting with our church. Dr. H. M. Wharton was with me for seventeen days and preached the gospel as he only can preach and to overflow houses. Fifty one have united with the church, thirty-seven of whom came in by baptism. The old people say that it has been a long time since Chester had such a meeting. During the present pastorate of nine months eighty-six have come into the church."

There's a record behind us, a record of over thirty years; a clean record of satisfied customers, a record of honest dealing, for honest quality, honest prices. It's a record any Jeweler might feel proud of. And when we sell an article we have in mind that we have a record to maintain, and no slipshod methods, no careless workmanship, no lack of quality, is ever allowed to mar the record of the past. But to improve, if possible, this record, is ever our aim, and goods are sold for as low a price as it is possible to sell reliable goods.

It will pay you in the end to deal with the Old Reliable Jeweler.
